

ALYSSA'S LAW

Texas Resource Guide

Named for Alyssa Alhadeff, one of seventeen students killed on February 14, 2018, at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Florida, Alyssa's Law requires Texas public schools and academies to provide a SPAT emergency alert system that allows for immediately transmitting a signal or message to first responders.

What is SPAT?

Silent Panic Alarm Technology (SPAT) is an alert system that can be triggered discretely, such as a wearable alarm button.

How is this funded?

SPAT technology can be purchased with School Safety Standards Formula Grants.

What can it be used for?

CENTEGIX CrisisAlert is built to ensure immediate contact with first responders and school officials in any situation.

CENTEGIX Fulfills TX Safety Mandates

CENTEGIX CrisisAlert system meets Alyssa's Law requirements with these elements:

- ✓ A mobile panic alert system featuring wearable security badges
- ✓ Real-time alerts capable of being sent to a variety of first responder agencies
- ✓ Integration with local public safety dispatchers to transmit 911 calls and mobile activations
- ✓ Connections to emergency services technologies
