

Evacuate or Lockdown

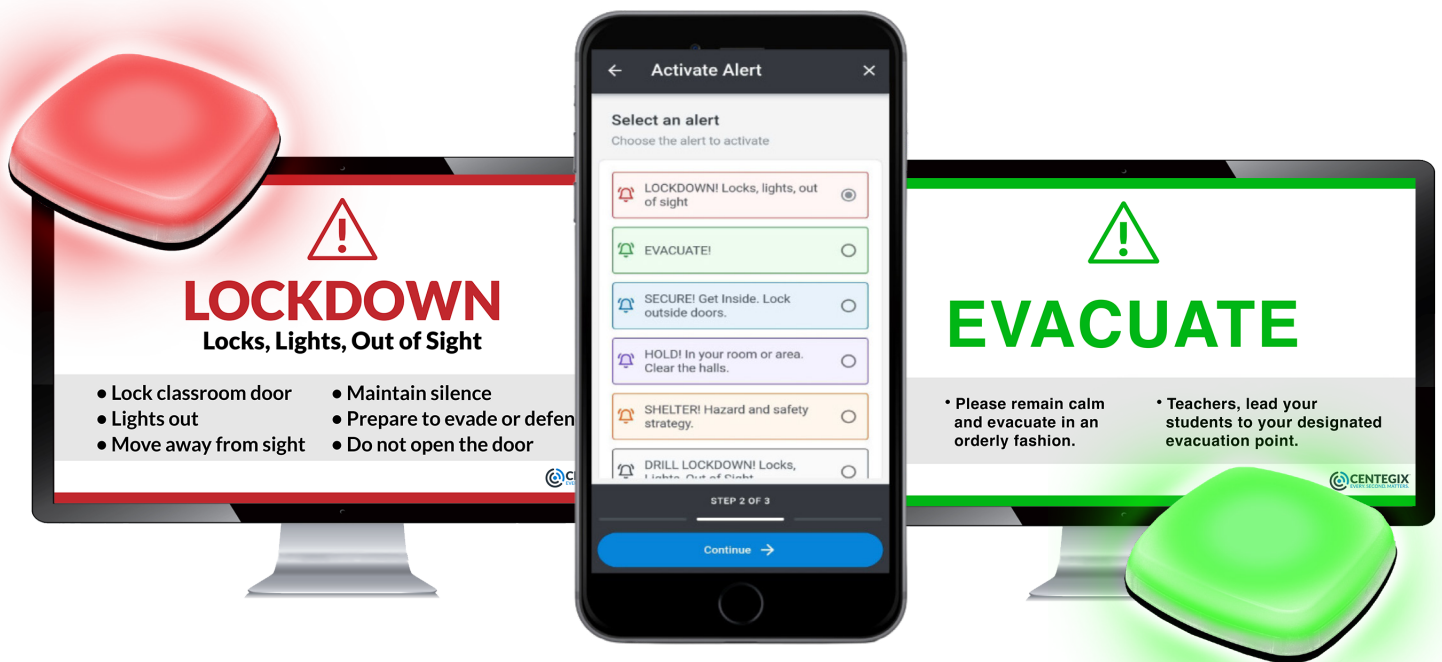

What is the right response to a fire alarm?

In the event of a fire, it's critical to move quickly to evacuate the building.

In an active shooter scenario, staying behind locked doors and out of sight is the protocol.

A fire alarm activated erroneously can put people directly in harm's way.

With CENTEGIX, school leaders can immediately notify everyone on campus which procedure to follow for the safest outcome.

Tennessee Has Passed HB 1644/SB 1679

- The Bill requires schools to develop protocols for determining the cause of a fire alarm activation to reduce the exposure of students and staff to threats like active shooters.
- Ideally schools would have separate alarms to identify the type of emergency and protect students and teachers. Wearable, silent panic alarms satisfy these new requirements.

Give your schools' staff the confidence to act quickly with the right response in an emergency—from the every day to the extreme. CENTEGIX Safety Platform™ uses colored strobe lights, automated intercom announcements and screen take-overs to immediately communicate what to do in a crisis. Because in an emergency, time is the most critical factor for a positive outcome.

See how our platform accelerates emergency response and complies with Tennessee's newest school safety laws at centegix.com/tennessee.